

This year on Halloween ....

when you hollow out your pumpkin ...

and you ask yourself

and you ask yourself

- Is there use for pumpkin seeds?

and you ask yourself

- Is there use for pumpkin seeds?
- Where should I submit my next paper?

A close-up photograph of a wooden spoon held over a bowl. The spoon is dripping a thick, dark, viscous liquid, likely chocolate or a similar sauce, which is falling into the bowl below. The bowl is filled with the same dark liquid, and its rim is visible. The background is a soft, out-of-focus light green.

There is a place in Austria ...

A close-up photograph of a wooden spoon tilted, pouring a thick, dark brown liquid (pumpkin seed oil) into a light green bowl. The oil is dripping from the spoon's edge, creating a thin stream. The background is blurred, focusing on the spoon and the oil.

There is a place in Austria ...

where you can get delicious pumpkin seed oil
